5 AI Money Moves You Can Start Tonight

Pick one move. Work it for 7 days. This guide shows you five honest ways beginners are using AI to earn, what each one actually takes, and the first step for each.

5 moves
Products, services, content, print, and bots. All beginner-friendly.

7 days
One short work session a day, from pick to published.

1 pick
Do not try all five. Pick the one that fits your life.

How to use this guide

Read the five moves on the next page. Circle the one that fits your skills, your time, and your budget. Then follow the 7-day plan on the last page for that one move only.

If you are not sure which move fits you, take the free quiz at the end of this guide. It asks about what you are good at, how much time you have, and what you want to earn, then gives you three ideas with 7-day plans.

An honest note: No income is guaranteed, and none of these moves pays on day one. What this guide gives you is a starting point and a plan. The results come from the work you put in after you pick.

The 5 moves, honestly

Each move works. Each move takes different skills, time, and patience. Read all five, then pick one.

1. Digital products

STARTS FREE

Planners, printables, and template packs you make once with AI and Canva, then sell as downloads. You need: a free Canva account and a shop or simple sales page.

First step: Pick one narrow product for one narrow buyer, like a budget planner for new parents.

2. AI services

FASTEST FIRST DOLLAR

Businesses pay for inbox help, follow-ups, newsletter setup, and simple automations. You do the work with AI and keep the fee. You need: one AI tool you know well and a simple one-page offer.

First step: Pick one service, write what it includes and what it costs, and tell three people you know.

3. Faceless content

SLOWEST, STEADIEST

Short videos made with AI scripts, voice, and visuals, with no camera and no face on screen. This is the slowest to pay and needs daily posting. You need: a phone, a free editing app, and one niche.

First step: Post one video a day for 7 days in one niche, then judge the results.

4. Print and low-content books

BEST IF YOU LIKE MAKING THINGS

Journals, coloring books, and wall art sold as print-on-demand books or downloads. You create the files, the platform prints and ships. You need: Canva and a KDP or Etsy account.

First step: Finish one short book or one small print bundle before starting a second.

5. Bot setup for busy owners

HIGHEST TICKET

Set up AI agents that handle morning briefings, inbox drafts, follow-ups, and social posts for business owners. This pays the most per client and needs the most learning. You need: a paid AI agent account and practice setting up your own bots first.

First step: Build one bot for yourself, a morning briefing, and use it for a week.

Your 7-day starter plan

One move, one week. Check each day off as you finish it.

- [ ] Day 1: Pick. Take the free quiz below and pick ONE move. Write it down.
- [ ] Day 2: Name your buyer. One sentence: who it helps and what problem it solves.
- [ ] Day 3: Build version 1. Use AI to help. Ugly and done beats perfect and unpublished.
- [ ] Day 4: List it. Put it where buyers already look: your shop, your profile, or your page.
- [ ] Day 5: Share it. Post it in 3 places where your buyer already spends time.
- [ ] Day 6: Listen. Answer every reply. Fix the one thing people asked about.
- [ ] Day 7: Decide. Keep going, adjust the offer, or pick a different move. Once, on purpose.

3 PROMPTS TO COPY

PICK MY LANE

I have [skills], [hours] per week, and [$budget] to start. Suggest 3 beginner AI side hustles that fit, and tell me which one to start first and why.

BUILD THE OFFER

Turn this idea into a one-page offer: [idea]. Who is it for, what problem does it solve, what exactly do they get, and what should I charge as a beginner?

WRITE THE LISTING

Write a simple listing for [product or service]: a clear title, 3 benefits, what is included, and one honest sentence about who it is for.

Your next step is free

Take the free Side Money Guru quiz. Answer a few questions about your skills, time, and budget, and it gives you 3 side-hustle ideas with 7-day plans.

Want the bots built for you?

I set up AI agents as your AI employee: morning briefings, inbox drafts, follow-ups, and social posts you approve first, with a specialty in X's Grok bots. Setup starts at $90 on Fiverr. The bots run in your own paid account, you sign in to your own apps, and nothing sends without your approval.
